1. As a caregiver of many Alzheimer's patients in a nursing home, I would like to be able to track down lost patients quickly. This could ensure their safety without me having to keep chasing them the whole day.
2. As an Alzheimer's patient who still likes to drive around a lot, I would like to have the choice of being guided home by my cell phone in case I lose track of time on one of my "joyrides".
3. As a sociable Alzheimer's patient, I would like to be notified only if I am neither at home nor at an appointment - entered by myself - to not be disturbed without cause or even to panic.
4. As an independent Alzheimer's patient, I would like to be able to adjust the radius myself so that I am not constantly asked if I am lost every time I visit Lidl.
5. Mr. Miller's caregiver would like to set the calendar synchronization interval to always have all calendars on the same status.
6. The Alzheimer's patient Ulf wants to go home immediately. To do this he opens the app and presses "Guide me home". The app then guides him home.
7. Mareike, Ulf's caregiver, notices that his Alzheimer's is progressing and therefore turns off the option to ask for a yes/no decision before automatically guiding him home.
8. Vanessa is Ulf's new caregiver and now wants to be entered as a contact person.
9. Vanessa readjusts the radius that has to be crossed for the home guidance, because Ulf always loses orientation close to his home.
10. As a caregiver I want to set the way home for my demented mother without her being able to change the settings again.
11. During a walk Daniel Dement got lost and was guided home by the app.
12. I am not yet completely demented and would like to call my daughter if I don't know where I am anymore.
